HALNet Terms and Conditions

I understand that my account application for HALNet includes the following conditions:

- Access to a full service PPP account.
- Each member is allowed unlimited attended usage, 10 megabytes of disk space for a home page, 50 megabytes for mail and personal storage.
- There are no assurances of privacy on HALNet.
- HALNet accounts should be used only by the authorized owner of the account for the authorized purpose. Each member is solely responsible for his/her account and the way it is used. HAL-PC/HALNet shall not be liable for any damages resulting from this access or from objectionable material obtained with this access.
- All communications and information accessible via HALNet should be assumed to be private property unless expressly stated otherwise.
- Any HALNet user's traffic that traverses another network will be subject to that network's acceptable use policy.
- Any use of HALNet for illegal purposes, or in support of illegal activities, is prohibited.
- No use of HALNet shall serve to disrupt the use of the network by other users.
- Failure to abide by such policies as are deemed necessary by the System Administrators or abuse of privilege as determined by the System Administrators may result in loss of membership in HALNet and forfeiture of all funds paid for such membership.
- All fees are subject to change without notice. Membership and access will expire automatically if not renewed.
- All terms and conditions are subject to change without notice.

HAL-PC membership is not required to have a HALNet account. Annual HAL-PC Membership is $40.00. Non-Member setup fee is $20.00.
